In 1999 the UN adopted a resolution designating the 25th November 'International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women'. This day heralds the beginning of 16 Days of Action for the Elimination of Violence Against Women which ends on 10th December, International Human Rights Day, two dates symbolically linked to highlight that violence against women is a violation of women's basic human rights.

Since the 1970s, women across the world have come together to reclaim our right to safety on the streets, in our homes, our schools and our workplaces. We are reclaiming the right to be free from all violence and abuse – verbal abuse, sexual harassment, sexual assault, rape, domestic abuse, commercial sexual exploitation, trafficking and murder.

The rapecrisiscentre in Glasgow are organising a march and rally on 29th November 2007 to mark the 16 Days of Action and to make our voice heard when we say STOP VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN.

Join us at 6.15pm on 29th November 2007 at University Avenue (off Byres Road) in Glasgow to march to the STUC at 333 Woodlands Road, Glasgow for a rally which will commence at 7.00pm. We welcome all women and men supporters to walk with us at this event.
