

The Center for Women's Global Leadership invite you to

Why MES with Human Rights?

Integrating Macro Economic Strategies with Human Rights

An intellectual and stimulating panel discussion to explore intersections between human rights advocacy and economic policies.

Join us for a unique introduction to the work of Radhika Balakrishnan, the new Executive Director of the Center for Women's Global Leadership and Professor of Women's & Gender Studies at Rutgers University.

Thursday, October 1, 2009

4:30pm Reception, 5:00pm Panel

162 Ryders Lane, Ruth Dill Johnson Crockett Building, Rutgers University, New Jersey, USA

Speakers include:

- Radhika Balakrishnan, Center for Women's Global Leadership, United States
- Lourdes Colinas, United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean, Mexico
- Diane Elson, University of Essex and the Levy Institute's program on Gender Equality and the Economy, United Kingdom
- Clara Jusidman, INCIDE and Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México, Mexico
- Aubrey McCutcheon, Global Rights, United States

Dr. Balakrishnan and her research colleagues, working in Mexico and the United States, will discuss the importance of using a human rights lens to assess macro economic policy, emphasizing the importance of putting theory into practice for the advancement of social change.

Center for Women's Global Leadership, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey
160 Ryders Lane, New Brunswick, NJ 08901-8555 USA; Phone: (1-732) 932-8782; Fax: (1-732) 932-1180
Email: cwgl@igc.org; Website: <http://www.cwgl.rutgers.edu>