

ROUNDTABLE DISCUSSION:

Feminist critiques, policy alternatives and calls for systemic change to an economy in crisis

Almost 3 years into the current systemic crisis, the disproportionate impact of the crisis on particular groups/communities, the intense challenges women face in maintaining livelihoods and the erosion of women's human rights continue. What is the feminist project? What type of economic and political organization would ensure gender equality, human rights and livelihoods for all? The panel aims to contribute to these discussions – and to the broader debate on the need for a radical rethinking and reorientation of mainstream economic policy from a feminist perspective.

Speakers:

Diana Aguiar, AWID

Rhadika Balakrishnan, Center for Women's Global Leadership

Nurgul Djanaeva, Forum of Women's NGOs of Kyrgyzstan

Natalie Raaber, AWID

Christa Wichterich, WIDE network

Saturday, 25 June 2011

2:20-4:00pm

Room 9, Zhejiang Gongshang University
Hangzhou, China.

Center for Women's Global Leadership

awid women's rights

2011 Annual Conference of the International Association for Feminist Economics (IAFFE)