

Center for Women's Global Leadership presents

USING TECHNOLOGY for SOCIAL JUSTICE ACTIVISM

Please join the Center for Women's Global Leadership for a panel discussion on the roles new technologies play in feminist activism and strategies to get involved.

Presenters:

- Amani Al-Khatahtbeh, Founder, MuslimGirl
- Emily May, Founder and Executive Director, Hollaback
- Julie Ann Salthouse, Violence Against Women Program Coordinator, Center for Women's Global Leadership

Moderated by Savi Bisnath, Associate Director,
Center for Women's Global Leadership

Wednesday, December 5, 2012
5:30-7PM

Ruth Dill Johnson Crockett Building, 162 Ryders Lane
1st Fl Conference Room, Douglass Campus

RSVP at rsvp@cwgl.rutgers.edu

Photos (from left to right):
© 2012 Hollaback; © 2011 Piczo.com; © 2012 MuslimGirl.

This event is part of the 16 Days of Activism Against Gender Violence Campaign. To learn more, visit <http://16dayscwgl.rutgers.edu/>.

Funded by the GAIA Centers Technologies Without Borders: Technologies Across Borders Global Initiative, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey.

RUTGERS
School of Arts and Sciences