US Human Rights Network and Center for Women’s Global Leadership presents

Using Human Rights to Support your Activism

An interactive session on using international human rights tools in your advocacy!

Wednesday, August 21, 2013
1-4pm
Center for Reproductive Rights
120 Wall Street, NY, NY

In the coming years, the United States will undergo several human rights reviews. Beginning this October, the United Nations will review the U.S. government on its human rights progress. Please join us to learn about how social justice activists can get involved.

Discussions will cover current concerns related to reproductive rights, racial discrimination, worker’s rights, and other rights in the U.S.

RSVP Required. Click here to register.
